W. H. Eves Resigns Hospital Post

Newmarket — Four directors were appointed at the annual meeting of the York County hospital board on Monday night. W. A. Spear, G. M. Byers and A. N. Belugin were appointed for three-year terms and W. H. Eves for one year in place of Gordon Manning whose resignation was accepted Monday night. Election of officers for the board will be held at a later meeting.

Mr. Eves who has been one of the directors since the York County hospital was started and president for about ten years, said that he did not wish to carry on the office of president in the future. Mr. Eves said, "I came on the board when it was first started when Dr. Dales' house was being rented as a hospital while the new building was under construction. I have seen the hospital grow to what it is today. Nine years ago I retired from business and I have been working just as hard ever since." He said he would like to be of any assistance he could but would rather give up the presidency.

A letter from Gordon Manning asked the board to accept his resignation because of the pressure of other work.

Mr. Eves has been long a servant to the town. He was on town council for 16 years, five years as mayor. He served on the school board for 18 years, on the hospital board since it started and about ten years as president. He was chairman of the house committee on the hospital board when the new Davis Memorial wing was built. Certain construction was taken over by the hospital board at that time, such as the entrance, boiler rooms, and heating plant and Mr. Eves supervised the work.

Other appointments to the board in 1949 are Arthur D. Evans by the county council, Frank Bowser, by the town of Newmarket, and Ross Linton, by the town of Aurora.

No Appointments Made To Court

Newmarket — With three vacancies still open on the Court of Revision, there has been no material change in Newmarket's "unprecedented" assessment difficulties. Chairman of the court, Dr. L. W. Dales, and members Arleigh Armstrong and A. N. Belugin, were removed from the court by council when it was learned that they were not eligible to sit. Mr. Armstrong is protesting the disqualification but there has been no decision by Miss Joanna Jansen who said she was acting on behalf of 12 ratepayers. The case has been remanded until March 9.

Legal authorities say there is no precedent for Newmarket's assessment difficulties. The court of revision has still before it appeals yet to be heard and until the assessment roll can be closed, the tax rate cannot be struck. One possibility, should there be no early solution to Newmarket's difficulties, will be to use last year's assessment roll. Another will be to finance town expenditures by borrowing and levy a double tax next year with no taxes this year.

The assessment dispute has been questioned, but it has not been put to legal test. The court, in its turn, has questioned the manner in which the legality of the court's actions has been questioned, but it has not been put to legal test. The court, in its turn, has questioned the manner in which

New Hospital Hours Save Crowding, Board Told

Newmarket — The new visiting hours at York County hospital are from 3 p.m. to 4 p.m. Tuesdays, Thursday and Sunday and 7 p.m. to 8 p.m. Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

Since there have been a number of complaints from citizens about the shorter visiting hours, it was asked at the annual meeting of the York County hospital board on Monday night, why they had been established. Miss V. Pearson, hospital superintendent, said that it had been at the request of the doctors, the main reason being that patients were being set back by too many visitors. Too much congestion was caused by visitors in the hospital, said Miss Pearson.

Dr. J. G. Cook, present at the meeting, said that he had not heard about the new hours previously but that he was pleased that they had been brought in. Dr. Cook said that visitors often "swarm in" to see a patient and another patient in the next bed might be very sick. "It's the patient in the next bed who always suffers," he said.

Frank Courtney asked if the Sunday hours could be lengthened to two hours from 2 to 4 instead of 3 to 4. Miss Pearson said that it would save much congestion if they were left at one hour. "One criticism I have heard," said W. H. Eves, "is that one-hour visits cause more congestion and crowding than longer hours."

There have been no restrictions put on private room visiting hours and there has been no restriction on mothers visiting children in the hospital.

PRESCRIPTIONS

THE NURSE

THE PHARMACIST

The physician, the nurse, the pharmacist are each concerned, though in a different way, with the use of drugs. Their inter-relationship can be summarized in this way: The physician prescribes, the pharmacist presents, the nurse administers. The physician examines the patient and diagnosis the disease. If a drug is indicated, he prescribes a suitable remedy and directs how it shall be taken and in what quantity. The pharmacist then prepares and presents the remedy in suitable form. The patient may be able to administer the drug himself but when administration requires special knowledge and techniques, the skill of a trained nurse is required.

These three people represent three important links in the human chain that brings our modern medication to wage war against disease and bring health and happiness to the patient.

Should your doctor prescribe, we invite you to confidently bring your prescription to us.

Better training and greater inducements are given for prison staffs. It has been Mr. McCulley's job to set up training schools for these men. Salaries have been increased but the staff turnover is still large and it may be that further inducements will have to be offered to attract the kind of staff that will make a permanent career in the prison service. Dr. Gendreau has been giving particular attention to special problems connected with sex offenders and drug addicts and the plans call for greater extension in psychiatric work.

After-care is not a part of the over-all plan in prison reform according to the Post. Explains Mr. McCulley, "The last thing a man wants when he's served his time is to have any further contact with law or government officials." It is for this reason that the work is left to private agencies such as the Canadian Penal Association. The association's claim is that only one in four or five of the prisoners who come to them "go sour."

The program for Canada's penitentiaries, says Maj.-Gen. Gibson, is a big one, not something that can be accomplished in a year or two, we must not expect spectacular results over Mardi Gras, Shrove Tuesday, came this week, and a good portion of the world was celebrating. New Orleans always has a real Mardi Gras—they start preparing for next year's celebration as soon as Ash Wednesday dawns, which you know is the day after. Ash Wednesday is the first day of Lent, and on Mardi Gras, or as we know it better "Pancake Tuesday", you are supposed to clear away from your "larder" (what a queer old-fashioned word!) of all rich foods, for Ash Wednesday is a solemn fast day—and in olden times they combined all rich foods into huge pancakes.

The name Mardi Gras is French for "Fat Tuesday", translating literally. We keep up with the old custom and have pancakes, griddle-cakes, waffles, or whatever you prefer to call them. And we have plenty of maple syrup to go with them!

Some folks prefer brown sugar and lemon, and that certainly is good eating, but for a Canadian, like myself, born and brought up here where the best maple syrup and maple sugar in the world is made, nothing can ever quite take the place of our grand Ontario maple syrup. I hope Quebec isn't listening.

But I still maintain nothing ever tasted quite so good as maple syrup made by Joshua Stickwood, from Bogartown, in my younger days, and Charles Lewis and sons. And I have never forgotten, when in my teens, being at a "sugaring-off" party given by the late Anne Phillips Wilson, daughter of Mr. Aca Phillips of Yonge St., in the maple grove on their farm. On the joy of pouring a spoonful into the "maple sugar" snow—that comes early in the spring—and making "Jack-wax", so sweet and sticky and toothsome. I've never forgotten that party!

KESWICK

It was Youth Sunday in the United church February 20 when the centre seats of the church were occupied with different groups of young people including Boy Scouts in uniform, C.G.I.T. girls, also little ones from Sunday-school classes making a very impressive sight. The sermon for them by the pastor, Rev. M. R. Brown was entitled, Super Man.

The temperance rally in the church on the evening of February 23 was interesting and well attended.

People are still talking about the excellent music in the United church last Sunday morning by the quartet of Mr. Ernie Taylor, Mr. Ken Boothby, Mr. F. Heaton and Bob Acheson. Just where will you go to hear Come Home sung so well? A large congregation was present to enjoy the entire service.

Ladies are asked to reserve the date of March 9 for the W.A. meeting of the United church which will include a miscellaneous shower to be held at the home of Mrs. Walter Richmond, just south of Keswick. Ladies desiring transportation from Keswick will find the bus leaves Keswick at 1.34 p.m. and there will be a north-bound bus around 4.45. Please note: the meeting will commence at 2 p.m.

The World Day of Prayer service will be held in the Christian church Friday, March 4. The service will commence at 2.30 p.m. Our local area includes Mount Pleasant, Ravenshoe and both Keswick churches.

(Too late for last week)

The World's Day of Prayer will be held in the Christian church Friday, March 4, at 2.30 p.m. Mrs. R. M. Brown will be in charge of the meeting.

Mrs. Frank Perry, Toronto, has been visiting her sister, Mrs. S. Kettell, the past week.

Workmen are busy on the new home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Peel opposite Mr. Peel's office.

Pages from the Editor's Notebook

Last week, a 1,400-lb. Hereford cow jumped into a silo through a small door, about the size of this newspaper page and once in appeared quite loath to leave. That is understandable. Any cow that can jump through a silo door would be a proper fool to attempt thefeat a second time. Having done the impossible, the only reasonable course would be to rest on her laurels and not put her legend to the second test. And that is just what "Grady," as her public promptly named her, did. She munched her cud with every semblance of bovine superiority within the confined but relatively comfortable quarters at the foot of the silo while outside the silo, Bill Mach, her owner, scratched his head and wondered how he could liquidate his $1,000 investment.

Bill was not alone in the head scratching. All over North America, the problem of freeing Grady was receiving the individual attention of thousands of arm-chair farmers. Suggestions poured in from 45 states and Canada. Hundreds came from miles around to view the problem at first hand. But nothing, it seemed, would do the job to the satisfaction of Mr. Mach and Grady. And then, when it appeared that all was lost, that either Bill Mach was going to lose a new silo or Grady was going to leave as steak, the farm editor of the Denver Post came flying to the rescue. His methods were simple. First, he had the unalterable conviction that if the cow had gone into the silo through the hole in the wall, she could get out of the silo through the same hole. That conviction is the real secret of his success. While others toyed with plans for removing the silo roof and hauling the cow through the top, or breaking a hole through the side of the silo and removing her that way, Ralph Partridge, the editor fellow, clung grimly to his belief that what went in could come out, all other factors being equal.

When Partridge added to this conviction, a supply of grease and a rope (which he was able to purchase in Oklahoma City only after much difficulty), the early liberation of the cow was guaranteed. First Grady was coated with grease, and then led to the opening. Her fore legs were put through first. Then a vet gave her a shot of nembutal with a hypodermic to quieten her nerves.

With Partridge pushing from inside the silo and Mach and friends hauling from the outside, Grady was slid halfway through the opening. Then Grady gave a heave and a ho on her own and shot out of the hole and into the yard like a watermelon seed from between the fingers. A continent relaxed as the news was flashed to the waiting world.

And what does all this prove? What is the moral? For one thing, it demonstrates the child-like interest we all have for such improbable situations as a cow in a silo. For another, it is a triumph for Mr. Partridge, the man who believed that what goes in must come out. And finally, what of Grady? "Well," says the owner, "I believe she has earned peace and quiet for the rest of her life. After all, she's had more excitement than most cows."

The Editorials:

Judicial Enquiry Needed

The confidence of Newmarket citizens in their administration has been sadly shaken by the manner in which the re-assessment and its attendant problems have been dealt with. Confusion and doubt have been encouraged to such an extent that a final decision on the issue, if made by those involved in it, will be suspect. No community can flourish in such an atmosphere.

If it is to be respected, a decision on Newmarket's future course in regard to assessment must be made from outside the community. Council has power to arrange this. Under Chapter 266, section 266 of The Municipal Act, council may ask by resolution that a judge of county court conduct an inquiry into "any matter connected with the good government of the municipality or any part of its public business".

If Newmarket is to be cured of this creeping paralysis of suspicion with which it has become infected, there is no alternative to such an enquiry. In its own interest, in the interest of all of the town, the council should ask for an enquiry at the earliest date.

Full Out For Ice Plant

The ways and means committee to advise on the campaign to raise funds for artificial ice has rejected the council's offer to debenture for the whole cost of the project. A campaign for contributions to cover at least half of the cost will open next Monday. The other half of the cost has been promised by council. We believe the committee chose the wisest course. The council's offer would have deprived the project of the many generous offers of help and material as well as removing it from the sphere of community effort and making it a burden on the tax-payers alone.

There are those who believe that it will be impossible to raise the necessary money by contributions. The estimated total, including a possible grant from the province and excluding the saving represented by promises of skilled labor and discounts on the cost of material, is $25,000. The skeptics say that it is too much. Yet Mount Forest, a village of some 1,800 population, raised $35,000 for its arena without incurring any debts. Other centres have made just as enviable records. If Mount Forest can do it, certainly Newmarket should be able to.

Already the Legion Auxiliary has a euchre planned—part proceeds for the rink. The Home and School Association is conducting a sale of used clothing—proceeds for the rink. An April exhibition is planned by the handcraft group—proceeds for the rink. And plans are in the making in most other town organizations to contribute their share to the success of the project. There are pledges for individual contributions as well as plans for pay-roll savings similar to the victory bond plans of the war by which individuals can swell the total of their donations by small weekly contributions.

Artificial ice is a project which has been hanging fire in Newmarket for years. Now there is an active, hard-working group leading the campaign to make artificial ice a reality by next winter. Let's make it a success by all of us pitching in with our share of the cost. Let's show what we can do.

Birthdays

Mr. Silas Armitage celebrated his 99th birthday last Friday. Early last month, Mr. and Mrs. George Lawson, 95 and 91 respectively, Mount Albert, celebrated their 71st wedding anniversary. And in Mount Albert, Mrs. Mary Quibell will celebrate her 96th birthday March 9. Mrs. James Sutherland celebrated her 101st birthday March 2, and Mrs. Elizabeth Alexander, Brownhill, will be 105 March 14.

Other anniversaries of many years standing have been celebrated in North York but we doubt that the birthdays and anniversaries celebrated in and around Newmarket within the space of a few weeks can be equalled anywhere else. North York can indeed be proud of the celebrants and will join in an unanimous wish that they enjoy many more years of happiness.

Regrassing Against Erosion

In hilly, well-watered country such as is found in this section of the county gullies caused by the run-off of rains and melted snow are a common sight. If paid no attention by the farmer, such gullies can spread with succeeding wet spells reducing tillable land and removing top soil. Many farmers attempt to control these gullies by filling them in with top soil from the sides. If the gully follows the course of the natural flow of water, the fill will be washed away the following spring.

A report from the dominion experimental station at Swift Current, Sask., recommends the regressing of such water courses as the most effective way to end erosion. The report says:

"The first step in reclamation is the shaping of the gully. It should be made 'saucer shaped'. Sharp bends in the water course should be eliminated. This can be accomplished by using a one-way disc to move the soil towards the centre of the gully. Large or more severe cases are better handled with a blade grader. After an even shape has been obtained a seed bed should be worked up and a sod forming grass seeded with a nurse crop of oats or wheat. Where applicable, the most suitable grass is brome or red fescue.

"Reclamation of gullies or regressing of water courses is a 'must' for those areas subject to water erosion damage."

Investing In Health

Social security measures are a requirement of good government. The state has a certain amount of responsibility for the sick and the aged. However, there is a limit to what the government can do, and what is wise for the government to do. So far, no party has shown the courage to define those limits. The public looks to the government increasingly as a super-welfare agency, and all three parties encourage this by bidding outrageously for the electorate's favor, as in the last provincial election, with promises of bigger and better payments of bonuses and pensions if elected.

A system of state medicine is one of the measures often urged as the next step towards a "complete program of social security". The immediate benefits of state medicine, in the form of care for the sick which has been withheld because of cost, are obvious. But in the long run, would state medicine really benefit the nation? We doubt it. State medicine is concerned primarily with the care of the sick. Would not it be more practical to spend the cost of financing state medicine on research into the prevention of sickness?

There are, at the present time, many agencies who offer some protection against the cost of illness. Insurance companies offer sick and accident policies. There are hospital plans for the cost of hospitalization, both private, public and co-operative in form. These protective measures cost the subscriber money to be sure, but it is not a heavy cost, and there are few who cannot meet it. In addition, reliance upon these agencies places the responsibility for the welfare of the individual where it belongs, upon individual. In making use of these agencies, he is acting of his own initiative, exercising his freedom of choice. He is not being made the ward of a benevolent government with subsequent withering of his powers of initiative and choice.

Not long ago, there were campaigns for funds for cancer research, for tuberculosis prevention and cure. Private individuals have endowed disease research centres. But for all the generosity of the public, research is never with funds completely adequate for the task. The very nature of the work makes expense an uncertain quality. Were greater emphasis placed upon research expenditures by the government, and less upon subsidized treatment the benefits would be lasting instead of temporary.

On To New Tasks

Mr. A. L. "Archie" McKenzie has left his position as assistant agricultural representative for York County to farm his own land near Stratford in Perth county. He will be missed by all who knew him and he will carry with him the best wishes of the host of friends he has made during his two-year stay in the county.

Mr. McKenzie has made an enviable contribution to farm work while here, particularly among the junior farmers. His work with calf and grain clubs was climaxied by the high marks teams coached by him have won in provincial contests. In 1947, his Markham Calf Club team placed second by only two points of 1,200 in competition with 51 teams. In 1948, another team from the same club placed third; only nine marks behind the leaders.

In grain club contests, his Woodbridge team was second place out of 32 teams in 1947 and in 1948, his team won the provincial contest in a field of 28. The same team missed top dominion honors by only 3 1/2 marks out of a possible 1,200.

York county has been fortunate in its appointment of agriculture representatives and Mr. McKenzie was in that tradition. In company with all who knew him, we regret his loss to the county while tendering our personal good wishes for his future.

Office Cat reports

Catnips By Ginger

I went to the city, boss, with Dingbert, our advertising man, the other day and we visited the parliament buildings. I recommend the parliament buildings to anyone who wants a change of atmosphere; it will work wonders with you. It takes your mind off your own problems and when it's all over, you'll be glad you're you no matter who you are.

As we drove up the front drive, a big Packard with a Daschund wheelbase and a crown insignia slinked past us and wheeled in front of the steps. Dingbert stopped the car and we gaped like the suburbanites we are as a grey form with a Homberg hat moved with ambassadorial correctness from the front door down the steps and into the long sedan. The Packard moved along. We pulled ourselves together and parked the car.

Inside the front door, we paused at an office and without reading the sign on the door, we asked the clerk, who was reading a racing form, where the information bureau was. "Information bureau? What's that? I don't think we have one of those in our department. Must be some other department. You'd better try another department."

We found the information desk and thence proceeded to the remote department we were looking for, down a long, dark corridor behind some reconstruction scaffolding.

"Evidently," said Dingbert, stumbling over a two-by-four, "this department is trying to screen out its customers. Sort of the fittest survive, like."

When we attained a beach head inside the department, we were further screened through a half-dozen graded clerks. Finally we found a man in a special slot, just there to suit our purpose. By this time we were steeped in bureaucracy.

Two hours later we retreated from the department but we had the information we were after. By now it was time for lunch and Dingbert and I unpacked sandwiches. We made ourselves comfortable on a show case containing a ton and a half of Northern Ontario in one of the great halls and watched the politicians go by. You can always tell who the politicians are because they wear conservative suits, the coat tails of which are wrinkled from long hours of legislation.

One of the politicians was sitting on a staircase opposite us knitting a pair of plaid socks. He wouldn't tell us why but I noticed that there were holes in the heels of the ones he was wearing.

I had a bit of a time with Dingbert who was the cause of our embarrassing withdrawal. First, while we were eating lunch, he kept reaching inside the show case trying to scratch the gold quartz out of the large bunch of Northern Ontario. His finger nails were torn to shreds and I reprimanded him for his greediness.

Later, while my back was turned, he was climbing up a pedestal on which was a bust of Lord Chumley-Strath. Dingbert was attempting to put a press card in his hat. Tragedy ensued and to my horror, Dingbert and the bust tumbled over the staircase and rolled to the bottom taking the sock-knitting politician with them.

Another politician came waddling down the hall and cried forth. "They're communist insurgents! Zounds, I shall make something of this in the Legislature!" We fled.

And so, tired though happy, after a strenuous day at the parliaments, we returned to our homes.

The Top Six Inches

The radio program, "What is your beef?" brings out many complaints but do these complaints get to the right people to do any good? What is the beef on the farm? We started out to find what the farmer thought and here are some of the things farmers talk about. "Why are the county buildings not out in the middle of the county?" One answer is the men attending county council would have to come home at night. A poll would favor moving the county building.

"Why was there such poor attendance at the municipal school held at Newmarket last fall?" Some councils had only one out of five. Are these men so good they cannot be told? A man who had been in council as reeve and deputy-reeve for some years said, "If you want to stay in office, never pass your opinion on any subject whatever." Another man said "the less you say in county council, the better you get along" and we hear that anyone who knows the ropes at county council can get results, while some other man is no good at all.

What does this all mean? Someone must talk to do business. Do the people expect the men they choose not to be able to take part in a debate? What do we send men to council for? To fill a chair?

School for Democracy

We have new citizens in our county who are afraid to vote. They say they do not understand. We can tell these people that it is their right to choose by ballot whom they wish to represent them in parliament. But when men go to parliament and never get on their feet, how are we going to explain this to our new citizens? A vote held by the children in the school-room might help explain to the father and mother how to vote. Why should not the reeve and deputy-reeve come to the township hall and tell the people why they did or did not vote at county council. If they did not take part in the debate, why?

Why cannot our township council strike a rate to cover running expenses and any extra expense, to be brought before the people at the annual meeting? This would give the farmer a year to meet extra taxes. The way it is now, our tax slip comes in with extra expense added. This is the first we know that we have to pay more taxes. This could be worked out with a little thought by our council.

OTTAWA LETTER

by

"Jack" Smith, M.P.
North York

My daily mail brings many letters from the riding of North York and as I have said before I do appreciate the interest of members of all political parties in writing to me. My mail in a week covers a wide variety of subjects and many contain helpful and constructive suggestions. I try to answer all individually but when a number of enquiries reach me on a certain subject, I assume this particular problem may be bothering many who have not just got around to writing me so I plan to answer some such queries through this column.

One question which has come to me from many people relates to the post office. Some post office patrons, boxholders, have written with some feeling complaining that postmasters refuse to give them mail from their boxes on occasions when they have forgotten their keys. These letters come from widely separated centres so I wish to make it clear no definite criticism is levelled at any particular postmaster.

To settle the query, I visited the office of the postmaster general, the boss postmaster for Canada. This was his ruling: boxholders are expected to take their box keys with them when calling for mail as postal employees are not required to open doors except in cases of emergency, and then only when the person making the request is positively known to be the boxholder or his representative who habitually clears the box. A card bearing this information is periodically distributed to boxholders.

Forgetting Keys

From time to time postmasters have experienced considerable difficulty with people forgetting to bring their keys with them and an occasional courtesy extended by a postmaster or clerk in delivering mail to a boxholder who has failed once or twice for some reason to bring his key has degenerated into an abuse; so much so that nobody seemed to bother to unlock his own box. Patrons simply walked into the post office and asked the postmaster or one of the clerks to get their mail no matter what other task they might be engaged. It can read-

A total of 125,515 persons immigrated to Canada in 1948. These people came from 51 countries of the world and included 30,450 from England, 9,838 from Scotland, 6,997 from Holland, 4,217 from Lithuania, 27,741 from Poland, 1,388 from Roumania, 7,393 from the U.S.A., 1,576 from Ireland, 1,326 from France and 3,016 from Newfoundland.

CANADIAN PLOWMEN ABROAD

by ELLIOT MOSES * Director
ONTARIO PLOWMEN'S ASSOCIATION

Belfast—Since my last letter the boys and I have had a full program, including an international plowing match, sight-seeing in two countries and numerous parties. It is a bit tiring but we are enjoying every minute of it. We have had a grand time in Ireland and now we are on our way back to England where we shall spend a few days before sailing for Canada.

Sight-Seeing in Scotland
Edinburgh is said to be the most beautiful city in the British Isles and it was our privilege to see some of the historical sites. We were accompanied by Mr. T. W. Jack of the Tourists Association of Scotland.

Machinery Testing Station
From Edinburgh our party went to Glasgow where we saw the Scottish agricultural machinery testing station just outside the city. The main object of the station as far as we could gather is to bring machinery from all parts of the manufacturing world and test it for use in Scotland. We were directed through the main building and shown the equipment and testing methods.

Machinery for experimental purposes is submitted on a voluntary basis and the tests are conducted by experts without charge. While we were there implements made in Germany, New Zealand, Australia, United States and Canada were being tested.

En Route to Ireland

The next day we took the train to Stranraer where we caught the boat for Belfast. When we landed in Ireland we were greeted by officials of the Northern Ireland Plowmen's Association. We were particularly pleased to see Peter Fitzpatrick whom we met last autumn when he accompanied the Ulster team to the International Match at Lindsay.

All the visiting plowmen were billeted at the Strand Hotel at Portstewart and it was quite an experience to sit back and listen to the many different dialects of the English and Scottish people. We almost felt as though we were attending a league of nations' conference so varied were the expressions and ways of speaking. We landed in Ireland two days before the International the house this week on the progress made under the national health program inaugurated last year. The government program announced last year seeks to improve the facilities to relieve human suffering caused by disease and ill-health. Projects under the government-national health program are flowing into Ottawa at a rate of $200,000 a day. In January projects approved totalled $4,082,000. Since the inauguration of the government health program projects to the value of $13,000,000 have been approved. It is encouraging to see that all nine provinces are co-operating in this national health plan which provides a broad program including:

(1) Federal grants totalling $625,000 to the provinces to make comprehensive surveys of the Canadian health scene.

(2) To strengthen and extend provincial health services, federal grants will be available each year for public health research and public health projects, to train professional health workers, to help crippled children, to fight venereal disease to control tuberculosis, to strengthen cancer control campaigns, and to promote mental health.

(3) Great increases in hospital accommodation are being encouraged by annual grants to the provinces, totalling $13 million a year.

These grants make possible an additional expenditure of $30 million or more each year on Canada's hospitals and health services. This is almost as much money as was spent on health by all governments in Canada-federal, provincial and municipal—as recently as 1933. This program of federal health grants is twice as much on a per capita basis as the federal health grants program in the United States.

Fall Election

Observers around Capitol Hill are now predicting a fall election, or one as late as the summer of 1950. The legal life of this parliament could extend to the fall of 1950. It is likely that seven by-elections may be held in Newfoundland in May or June and that representatives from the new province may sit on this session.

Miss Bobby Rosenfeldt, sports writer, Toronto, spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Bert McCann and Miss Marjorie McCann.

Foote-Notes

BY WILLIAM FOOTE
AURORA EDITOR

"It's good news this week, very good news. The dark clouds of despondency have dispersed. And all because Lorenzo has re-entered my life. It all started last week. I was feeling blue. According to recent reports I was friendless, a victim of social ostracism. Then one night, as I sat alone and unwanted in my garret, crying tears of despair on the shoulder of my Chippendale and attempting to drown my fit of depression in long draughts of homogenized milk, a knock sounded at my door. 'Ah!', I thought, 'another bill collector.' I took a long pull at my glass (milk), opened the door, and there was Lorenzo, my old friend, my pal."

"One man would give us each two or three cards," explained my long-lost chum. "Then one of them would put in some of his matches. They explained to me that this was the most important part of the game and that anyone who wanted to play had to put some of his matches in the centre each time. I didn't want to be a poor sport so I put some in every time. This went on for each card until the cards were shuffled again. Finally I ran out of matches, and bought some more. This happened three times. They said my money was for room rent."

"Then," said Lorenzo, "the game broke up about half-hour ago. They told me they were going to play again tomorrow night, and since I found it interesting I told them I'd play too. They must like the way I play, for one of them came along to look after me, and said he'd see that I got to the game okay. They must figure on the game lasting for a while as one of them told me to bring along an extra shirt. But I think maybe he was joking because he winked at the others when he said it."

"Now," said Lorenzo, "about the ten bucks. I figure that'll be enough because that room shouldn't cost any more than ten for the night and I intend to speak to the landlord before the game. So how about it, eh?" I didn't know what to say. "C'mon kiddo," he pleaded. "Look, you're my friend, my pal, aren't you?" I nodded hopefully. "Of course, Lorenzo." "And I'm your pal, your friend. Isn't that right?"

"This was more than I could hope for. A friend, a friend, wheeeeee! "You mean I've got naturally I agreed to go along," continued Lorenzo. "It was fun. He took me to a room, I met the two other fellows and we sat down to a table. Each of us had to give one man $10. He took the money and gave us each a pile of matches. Then they said they were going to play seven-card stud, whatever that is."

"One friend?" I whispered hoarsely. "I'm not alone and unwanted, ostracized from the joys of human companionship! Take the ten," I said with tears in my eyes. "Here, take 20." In a flash he had the money in his pocket and was starting towards the door. We shook hands and he promised to let me take him to dinner tomorrow noon. "Thanks, pal," he said as he went out the door. "I'll be back to see you if I need any more dough." I shut the door. "He'll be back. He'll be back," I cried over and over again. "Say! Maybe he'd take me to the game with him!"

THE NEWMARKET ERA AND EXPRESS, THURSDAY, MARCH 3RD, 1949

SHARON FORUM

The Sharon Farm Forum met at the home of Mr and Mrs. Ken Weddell. The blustering entry of March as a lion prevented some of the usual members from attending. The subject of the broadcast was "Render Unto Caesar", one of a series on taxation. The forum concerned itself quite largely with the present Sharon school situation. Some of the members intend to go to the county rally which is to take place in King at Mr. Ross Follett's. The next meeting of the forum will be at Mrs. Newroth's.

"One friend?" I whispered hoarsely. "I'm not alone and unwanted, ostracized from the joys of human companionship! Take the ten," I said with tears in my eyes. "Here, take 20." In a flash he had the money in his pocket and was starting towards the door. We shook hands and he promised to let me take him to dinner tomorrow noon. "Thanks, pal," he said as he went out the door. "I'll be back to see you if I need any more dough." I shut the door. "He'll be back. He'll be back," I cried over and over again. "Say! Maybe he'd take me to the game with him!"

CAROLYN YOUNGS WEDS R.C.A.F. MAN

Trinity Anglican church, Aurora, was the scene of an afternoon wedding, February 26, of Carolyn Mary Greenwood Youngs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Riley Youngs, to FO George Gray Duncan McIntosh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Noah McIntosh, Winnipeg, with Rev. K. D. Whatomough officiating. Dr. Crawford Rose was soloist with Mr. Clayton C. Rose as organist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a period gown of antique ivory faille taffeta with a net yoke edged with a wide trill of Honiton lace, basque bodice and bouffant skirt falling into a slight train. Her headdress, of matching Honiton lace, was fashioned like a Dutch cap and held a finger-tip veil of ivory tulle illusion. She carried a prayer book with a cascade of ivory ribbons coaxed with freesia and bouvardia. Matron of honor, Mrs. H. Keith Nancekivell, Toronto, and junior bridesmaid Carolyn Joan Youngs, niece of the bride, were gowned alike in dresses of spring-green moire with scalloped neckline, tight bodice and full skirt sashed with pansy-purple velvet ribbon. They wore matching moire mittens and headbands of purple velvet ribbon trimmed with flowers to match their bouquets. They carried colonial nosegays of pansies and Joanna Hill roses.

Lieut. Charles V. Carlson, Weyburn, Sask., was groomsman, while FO's V. V. Bissett and D. N. Benkie ushered.

The reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, the bride's mother receiving in a floor-length gown of deep fuchsia crepe. She wore a small floral hat and carried black accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

Following their wedding trip to the United States, the couple will reside in Lachine, Que.

Lois McCabe First In P.S. Contest

Newmarket—Lois McCabe won the public school oratorical contest held last week at the February meeting of the Home and School Association in St. Paul's parish hall. Lois who was also the 1948 winner spoke on "King George VI—George the Good". Second prize went to Charlotte Morton who spoke on "The Circus—P. T. Barnum". Bob Moser with a humorous talk on "Unpopularity" and Verne Hutchinson speaking on "The Life of a Tree" tied for third place. The judges of the contest were Miss Roberts and Mr. James of the staff of Newmarket high school and Mrs. J. W. Bowman. Mr. H. A. Jackson thanked the public school board for sponsoring the contest and donating the prizes. He stated that 150 boys and girls had competed in speech-making this year with the 13 finalists showing a high calibre of address. The names of the remaining nine contestants were Allan Perks, Katherine LeGood, Shirley Beare, Norma Baker, Betty McArthur, Fay Black, Jean King, Joan Stuicke and Barbara Graham.

A great diversity of subject matter added to the enjoyment of the contest which was the best of its type witnessed locally. All the talks were fine. Miss Evelyn Denne, Mr. Sam Jefferson, Mr. F. Hollingsworth and Mr. Jackson deserve much credit for their active encouragement and assistance given the boys and girls.

In announcing the winners the judges emphasized the importance of a conversational voice, appropriate gestures and an easy, relaxed manner if the proper emotional appeal was to be made on the audience. They suggested that the topic be introduced in a short effective way rather than by merely announcing the title. Mrs. M. B. Seldon presented the prizes to the winners on behalf of the board.

The importance of being able to speak properly before an audience can not be minimized.

It is to be hoped that this keen interest displayed by the school children on Tuesday night will be maintained and encouraged.

The following is the text of the first prize address:

KING GEORGE VI

By LOIS McCABE

In close succession, Britain has had three kings. First, "George the Dutiful", then "Edward the Romantic" and now one who seems to be destined to go down in history's pages as "George the Good".

Therefore, ladies and gentlemen, I speak to you this evening on a sketch of the life of George VI, from swaddling clothes to ermine, the youth who never expected to be a monarch.

His Majesty, George VI was born on December 14, 1895, York Cottage, Sandringham. He was the second son of the Duke and Duchess of York and the man who is now on the throne, after the abdication of his elder brother, Edward the VIII.

His Majesty was christened Albert Frederick Arthur George, but was called Albert or Bertie in his younger years but elected to be known as King George VI rather than King Albert as a tribute to that beloved monarch, his father, King George V.

As a baby, Albert's life was little different from that of any child in a middle class family. He was a boy of eight or nine was to Canada in 1939 and one of the others to South Africa.

JUNIOR LADIES' AID

Newmarket—The regular monthly meeting of the Junior Ladies' Aid of the Congregational-Christian church will be held at the home of Mrs. Wm. Robinson, Queen St. E., on Tuesday, March 8, at 8 p.m.

When the second great war broke out, England became a special target of her enemies, but their majesties stayed through thick and thin with their people, even though food was scarce and danger great. Princess Elizabeth joined the army. When this was over in 1945, Britain was still a war-torn country and the King and Queen readily accommodated their activities and mode of living to existing conditions and trying circumstances.

Like a common person the King gave his elder daughter, Elizabeth, in marriage to Philip Mountbatten on November 20, 1947. King George just recently became the grandfather of Princess Elizabeth's baby, Bonnie Prince Charles.

We can all feel justly proud when, in future months, we take off our hats and cheer, "His Majesty King George VI and his lovely Queen", for above all they are both good sportsmen. So let us take up the cry once more and shout as loudly and loyally as we can—God save the King and Queen.

The Common Round...

WHAT IS A HOUSEWIFE?

Reading an article by Dorothy Thompson the other day on "Housewives" recalled what I had heard a woman say not long ago when asked what her occupation was. For a few moments she looked completely bewildered, then said "The only thing I can do is keep house". "Oh yes, housewife", said the questioner.

Afterwards Mrs. Blank said to me, "I never thought of keeping house for my family as an occupation. I thought an occupation was some particular kind of work." When I was asked the same question, the questioner put down "writer" before I had time to either protest or affirm, but I asked him to put housewife too and then I began to ask myself "what is a housewife?" and putting my own ideas and a bit of Dorothy Thompson together, I got this: she is not a person of one occupation, but of so many that combined they make a formidable total and elevate "housewife" to a class by itself.

Combined Everything

It was said of Leonardo da Vinci that he combined in himself a knowledge of more arts and crafts than anyone before or since ever possessed. He painted one of the world's most famous paintings, The Last Supper; he was an authority on the structural classification of plants and on engineering; he discovered the construction of the eye, invented the camera-obscura and the saw which was in use still not so long ago in the marble quarries of Carrara.

Take a good look at da Vinci—he is a hero of mine—and then coming down to our own times and practicality, consider the housewife. You'll say she doesn't paint portraits. Well, not on canvas, perhaps, but every housewife is painting pictures every day. Her house is a canvas on which she paints a picture. It may be a cosy picture, a gorgeous picture, a simple picture or even an ugly one, but it is a picture—a home as she thinks a home should be.

Then she is a sculptor. She moulds the character of her children—their young eyes see, their young ears hear, the young lips utter the things which she has put into their forming. She is a teacher for from their mother they absorb her idea of God and of honor, and courtesy and love. She must be an author even if her stories never see print, for there is no mother living who has not had to meet the demand "tell us a story".

Must Be a Cook

A housewife must be a cook—so that I know could have even attained the ranks of chef if their confections had ever extended beyond the home and many housewives are dressmakers.

Scouts, Guides Parade To St. Paul's Church

Newmarket—The Boy Scouts and Wolf Cubs, the Girl Guides and Brownies attended the morning service at St. Paul's Anglican church last Sunday. Cubmaster Bertram Budd read the second lesson, taken from Ephesians 6: 10 to 17. The rector, Rev. James Rhodes, gave a stirring address, holding their attention throughout. He based his talk on the words, "And they with one accord began to make excuse". In the evening the rector stressed the meaning of Lent, which began yesterday, Ash Wednesday, calling in church members to exercise self discipline. There was special service of intercession in the church yesterday evening to mark the opening of the Lenten season.

On Wednesday evening of last week, the Woman's Auxiliary held a social evening at the home of Mrs. A. E. Revill, Arden Ave., when they presented their retiring Dorcas secretary, Mrs. W. Bacon, with a beautiful red morocco prayer and hymn book in appreciation of her long and faithful service. Mrs. Bacon has held the office of Dorcas secretary for 37 years. The Woman's Auxiliary will, as always, hold a chain of prayer tomorrow to mark the Women's World Day of Prayer. Starting early in the morning, different members will take periods of 15 minutes each, keeping the chain of prayer intact until they all attend the united service in the appointed church at 3 o'clock.

Last Sunday, at the Anglican children's Sunday-school of the air, over CFRB at 9:30, Bishop Beverley gave the talk. He also took the subject of using the season of Lent to acquire self discipline.

Next Thursday the Woman's Auxiliary will have as guest speaker Mrs. Andrew who will tell of her work as missionary to China, at 3 p.m. in the parish hall. The members of W.A. branches of the deanery have been invited to be present. All are welcome.

Meteors 1 Down In Overtime Final

In Weston the song of the day is "Pawer Your Face with Sunshine" and winger Jimmy Gray is the pride of Main St. In Aurora the junior hockey season may be ended for '49 but the Meteors are "Sweethearts For-ever" so far as district hockey fans are concerned.

After 70 minutes and 32 seconds of tense, epic hockey on Thursday night at Barrie Weston, the second Weston goal coming with Weston having the odd-man advantage.

Once again it was the "Dynamite Kid," Laurie Thoms, who put Aurora on even terms with a mighty effort at 5:03, captain Jack Andrews getting a well-earned assist. Willie Gallagher, a converted forward for the series, put Weston ahead again at 5:27 as Jerry Goodwin led the attack from the face-off. For close to 10 minutes Aurora stormed the Weston goal unsuccessfully, and it looked as if they would never make it. Attridge again came through with flying colors as he teamed with Laurie Thoms to knot the count at 19:18. Aurora fans went wild.

Both teams had good chances in the first overtime period and both had a penalty each to add to the excitement. In the second overtime session, Gallagher drew a penalty and Aurora just missed on their ganging effort. Attridge drew a penalty in the dying moments and Weston got the break that won the game.

For Aurora, Moore played a great game in goal, and the defencemen were good both defensively and offensively. Up front, Thoms and Attridge had a bit of the edge in brilliance but everyone gave a full performance. It was unfortunate that Simmons and Ross, who have played stalwart hockey all season, should have been forced to play under wraps through injuries in the final two games.

Downer, Gray, Goodwin and Calhoun were the top performers for Weston. Downer and Calhoun have been two of the big stars of the entire series, and Goodwin along with Gallagher chose this game timely enough to play their best hockey of the series. Chard played an excellent game in the nets.

Weston now meets Unionville in the group finals and on their showing should reign as favorites. In the time-honored words of hockey "It was a great game to win, a tough one to lose." All credit to the game, hard-fighting youngsters on both teams, who really played hockey as it should be played and revived all the glories of Canada's winter sport.

On the Alleys

With only three weeks to go and playoffs looming on the horizon, standing in the Town Men's League is: Combines 50, Clover Kickers 48, Office Specialty 46, Newmarket Lumber 41, Benders 39, Denne Electric 38, Hissey's 36, Dixon's 35, Metal Workers 33, Bankers 30, Legion 30, Turkey Catchers 30. Over the year, Reg. Wilson has hit the average jackpot with 224. Roy Gibson 219 and Del. Penberton 208. Reg. Wilson's 361 single still tops that department. Roy Gibson's fine triple mark of 781 defies the other bowlers.

Thursday Night Ladies' club attack on the pins was spear-headed by Helen Tomlinson who rolled up a 578 threesome. Edna McGrath had a 563 followed by Hazel Bennett with a 536. Bessie Wunch with a 525 and Laura Gilkes 520.

Bob Wallace was tops with the Hoffman shooters this week with a 633 triple, (152, 211, 276). Dick Hutchinson had 614 (184, 200, 239). Allan Daniels followed with 610 (209, 182, 239). Vercrone's Machine Shop for four points, and Stores served out the same treatment to Sheet Metal.

Outstanding scores were missing from Monday's activity in the Ladies' League. Annie Stickland was the lone bowler to make the 800 circle with a 611 mark (184, 257, 170). Edna McGrath had 582, followed by Irene Abbott 573, Kitty Ruddock 569, Elsie Cline 554, Marion Stark with a 580 and second.

Newmarket, Aurora Split Honors in Minors

Newmarket and Aurora split the honors about even in a full evening of minor hockey at the Aurora Arena Monday evening. The teams put on a twin bill, Newmarket Midgels, sticking more closely to their vitamin diet, racked up a 7-2 win. It was turnabout in the late contest as Aurora bounced our juveniles by a 7-4 count.

Ivan Bray led the Newmarket Midgels with a pair of tallies, Grant Morton, "Mickey" Barker, John DeLafave, Jack Staley and Stan Pollard fired home single counters. Aurora was the better side in the juvenile counter. Only the scoring of "Spike" Cain and Dave Couch, who split our production of four between them, kept the Lions in the hunt.

Down The Centre

By T. A. M. (AB) BULST

Thornhill hit the limelight on three counts last week. Number one was that although the Ontario Municipal Board has not handed down a decision on the request for permission to build a race-track near Steele's Corners, surveying and work on the project is underway. The promoters have already sat in on harness horse executive meetings and in the words of those in the know, "It's in the bag." There'll be trotting races under floodlights come the summer. Frankly, we thought the Thornhill protest was not too logical, and was poorly timed, as are so many anti-this and anti-that bluelaw movements.

Number two was the news that Bill Ezinkki of the Maple Leafs has finally realized his ambition and turned golf professional. He'll be in action this summer at the Uplands Club, which is being re-opened after a blackout of six years. In case you've forgotten, the Uplands course is just above the Thornhill club, with the entrance beside the Langstaff school to the west. It's a welcome addition to the over-crowded golf course picture. Number three on the news round-up was that a swimming pool is definitely assured for Thornhill this year, and work will start shortly. Leitcheroff Farms angled the idea to the extent of 25 grand. Nels Findlay, A. O. Thorne, and the Thornhill Lions are doing the rest.

Congratulations to coach "Okle-Berry-Dockle" Day of Richmond Hill high. Quietly enough, without too much fanfare, the green and white Hill scholars have annexed both senior and junior secondary school cage crowns. Jim Reycraft and Sandy Neal paced the seniors to an easy run for the honors, but Frank Gregoire's Aurora juniors just about upset the minor series. The junior cage series was the closest in years in '49—even Pickering College being hot stuff. Coach Day is named "Okal" as a matter of fact so his nickname is a natural.

Eleven straight wins was the proud total of Markham Millionaires as they concluded the regular schedule. Harry Milroy headed all scorers in the circuit, while Frankie Carr had the lowest goal average of all the goalies. It's a matter of more than passing interest to see these two old favorites back to the form that won them recognition from district hockey fans. Markham tried to get permission from the O.H.A. to sign George Stark after his return from the Maritimes, but Mr. Pantner said "No." The Willowdale boy will thus be on the sidelines for the balance of the year.

News n' Views

By GEORGE HASKETT

A little bird told me

We're going to have an artificial ice plant.

And I believe that it's true.

No, I didn't dream that one. It's a fact. The discussions have finished. March 7 opens the drive to raise the necessary funds to install a freeze plant in our memorial arena. If that doesn't make us hockey fiblets sit up and take notice, then nothing will. The recreation commission, and ways and means committee headed by Fred Thompson, Frank Courtney and Art Lord are co-operating and ready for their part of the burden. Dig, dig, dig, all we need is the do re me. Let's make it as it should be, a community project. Everybody with their shoulders to the wheel.

Hockey men and hockey players! Yours must and should be a leading part of the drive. Get together right now, no delay, please, and give us the biggest bang-up shindig that ever hit the canal town. Tall order, sure, but we must prove to one and all we're ready to assume our share of the campaign. What better way than by doing what we know best. Had a thought one night. Saw Bill Thoms, "Joint" McComb, Herb Cain, "Scotty" Mair, Don Willison, Ellis Pringle, "Dodger" Collings, Sonny Townsley, Larry Molynex all back out there doing their stuff. Believe me, I don't think there is one that wouldn't step up behind you to help the cause.

Cleaning the decks for action. Climax of a big week for the Metro loop coppers, Spittires and Greenshirts are toeing the mark. The odds are with the Greenshirts. They came through the season with one loss. Play-offs are something else again. Our back-checkers may be working overtime and find a formula to combat the extra scoring punch packed by the Greenshirts. A side issue which may possibly have escaped the notice of a majority of the fans is that regardless of the outcome of the trolley league fun the Spittires carry on in intermediate A.O.H.A. and Sutton in B. Likely opposition for the Spits is Parry Sound.

A buzz of congrat before the hockey armament is cracked into the hall closet to Harold Rogers, "Dinty" Moore, Stew Patrick, Bill Mitchell, Jack Bowser, Sr. and Jr. of Aurora's black and gold, coming in late, few practices, wound up with a scrappy side giving all comers a battle. Out of season note: Flash, Flash! "Peaches" VanZant and "Ceegars" McDonald had their heads together and, of all places, at the arena. Tried not to hear but caught, as they both held me down, something like "bigger and better softball team, floodlights" and it did sound like "the only serving alderman to catch softball in town". It did, so help me, seem to come out like that.

Monday evening the east met the west in one of the wildest games ever witnessed in the Aurora arena. What the players lacked in condition they made up with their fighting spirit, butt ends, knees, elbows and sundry items. The game, which didn't start until nearly 10 p.m., lasted until after midnight. Only one serious injury was reported, and that by Frank Caruso who had a nasty gash opened in his head when he tried to pick the puck up with his teeth. There were, of course, the usual number of charley horses to be expected in a game where skill was secondary. The following day the various members of the two teams could be easily picked out by the way they limped.

As to the score, the less said about that the better, at least according to the west. The west led for most of the game and at one time were around three

Spits Meet Sutton Here Tonight

Sutton "Greenshirts," living up to their season's record of no losses at home, turned back the Spittires 7-3 Monday to give the Greenshirts a one-game lead in the best two-of-three series for the championship. Sutton held an edge that showed up on the score-board in each semester. The Spittires were outscored in every frame, 2-1, 3-1, and 2-1.

The main difference between the teams was the way the Greenshirts snapped up every opportunity presented to them. Three times they took full advantage of the red-line to get into the clear. Each time that happened they had a goal, and it wasn't Joe Tunney's fault. The Spittires didn't lack opportunity.

Flash — Spits meet Parry Sound Saturday night in the first round of the O.H.A. semi-finals at Newmarket.

In the third period, their best, they lifted 14 shots at Bob Winch for one goal from an unassisted effort by Myles McInnis. Sutton had eight drives at Joe Tunney, two ending in the twine.

Myles McInnis promoted most of the goal scoring with a pair of unassisted efforts, both requiring some neat work to get into firing range. Bill Mabell, with wing-mate Stan Gibbons relaying the pass, slapped home the first tally at the half-way mark of the initial session.

Cros. Brady, Ken. Davis and G. Holborn were the main goal-getters for the winners with a pair each. Bruce MacMillan put the seventh and final counter on the record sheets.

Ellis Pringle was again a main stumbling block on the Spittires' road into the Sutton territory.

Keswick Midgets Do 'The Impossible'

Playing at Cannington a week ago Wednesday, Keswick's Midget C hockey club defeated Orono 12-11 on the round after two ten-minute overtime sessions.

The Keswick kids had been defeated the night before, on the short end of a 9-2 score at Orono. Keswick had eliminated Woodville in the first round play of their C group.

At the start of the Cannington game, Orono had a seven-point lead but when the 60 minutes were up, Keswick had made the score 9-2 tying the round 11-11. The second ten-minute overtime period saw Sullivan put in the winning shot. Alf. Marritt, the Keswick goalie, stopped a shot with his eye at two seconds to go and one of the forwards took his place.

Hornets' Champions In Pee-Wee League

By virtue of an unassisted second period scoring thrust engineered by Billy Cain, the only goal of the game, Pittsburgh "Hornets" are today champions of the American "Pee-Wee" League. The Hornets and Hershey "Bears" battled for the championship Monday evening.

The Hornets, leading their league all down through the Saturday morning sessions, are worthy champions. They had to be at their best to hold the Bears in this final game.

Line-up: Pittsburgh "Hornets," goal, B. Sweenie; defence, C. McGuire, M. Bates; centre, B. Wilson; wings, M. Moffatt, S. Bondi; alternates, H. VandenBerg, W. Townsley, B. Cain, M. Flicker, D. Jackson; Hershey "Bears," goal, R. It is estimated approximately 2,000 veterans will be on parade on June 19. Canadian Corps units are expected from as far west as London and the Niagara peninsula and east to Kingston. Col. S. I. A. Lambert, well-known padre, has been invited as one of the guests, as well as Major-General Chris. Vokes and high ranking representatives of the navy and airforce. Major the Reverend J. Foote, M.P.P., V.C., will not be able to be present this year.
